

FAQs: The details

How can I participate in the program?

Please submit the online application form before February 16, 2024, at 11:59 PM PT.

Who should apply?

We are seeking CEOs, founders, and owners of successful, private, high-growth U.S. companies that are generating sustained sales revenue above $10 million, with exceptions for some sectors and established serial founders. Candidates should also

- Have a personal net worth that is substantially tied to the success of their business
- Be committed to propelling their business to the next level
- Be eager to learn, develop, and collaborate with other entrepreneurial leaders during and after the program

What information do I need to provide?

If you'd like to apply, here's what we'll need:

- Company and executive details (name, address, contact information)
- A brief description of the company, business model, capital structure, management team, and growth goals
- Details on revenue figures, assets, and employee numbers for 2020 through 2022

How will the selected participants be notified?

The selected participants will be contacted in March 2024 by a representative from KPMG.

What are the costs involved in participation?

There is no charge for applying to the program. The cost of the program to those selected to attend is $4,000, plus any travel expenses to Ann Arbor, Michigan. The original cost of the program, including all content material, food and accommodations at the Stephen M. Ross School of Business in Ann Arbor, Michigan, is over $10,000 per participant. As the program is heavily supported by the University of Michigan's Ross School of Business and KPMG Private Enterprise, participants benefit from a discounted tuition fee. Have a personal net worth that is substantially tied to the success of their business

Unsuccessful applicants will be notified. Due to the volume of entries received, we are unable to provide detailed feedback to each unsuccessful applicant.

We value the time and effort put into each submission and thank you for your participation.

Will I receive feedback on my application?
