Global Procurement Survey highlights

We are pleased to share with you a new report, KPMG 2023 Global Procurement Survey.

Procurement executives are finding themselves at a critical juncture within a dynamic business landscape. Achieving success hinges on prioritizing short-term goals, such as optimizing strategic sourcing and procurement analytics, while balancing long-term objectives, such as sustainability and technology adoption.

According to the KPMG 2023 Global Procurement Survey, 64 percent of procurement leaders identified cost savings and process efficiencies as top priorities. To enhance alignment with stakeholders, taking proactive measures is essential. Here are a few critical considerations to ensure the long-term success of your procurement function.

- Develop a comprehensive, forward-looking procurement roadmap.
- Embrace technology to drive productivity and maintain competitiveness.
- Enhance strategic sourcing and streamline key supplier relationship management.
- Capitalize on outsourcing opportunities to attain cost savings and improve capabilities.
- Invest in tools and systems for efficient contract visibility, risk mitigation, and goal conformity.
- Strengthen ESG initiatives and align them with corporate commitments.
